Hoff Estimates Room Rental In Proposed Student Union

"It looks like a room accommodating 75 people could rent for ten dollars a meeting night if those particular facilities were used to capacity." This statement made by Charles Hoff, vice-president in charge of business management, is in answer to the request in the GATEWAY two weeks ago.

Capacity use of the room means it must be used at least five times a week during the school year for twenty years after construction.

Mr. Hoff said, however, that "it is impossible, at this time, to say what the rental or lease charges will be for space in the Student Union. This is strictly a policy matter which rests with the Board of Regents."

Delay in final plans comes from many things: lack of money for a sinking fund; lack of knowing how much space can be utilized; and lack of a guarantee that once bonds for construction are floated there will be a continuance of income over a 20-year period to pay the loan.

Mr. Hoff said at some institutions, where it has been possible to pay for the buildings with alumni gifts, space is allotted to various organizations on a rent-free basis. However, he does not know of any place where this practice has been followed for fraternities and sororities. Other institutions make a minimum charge to cover cost of current maintenance only.

So far, there has been no final decision regarding student assessment.

1959 has been tentively scheduled as beginning date for construction of the Student Center, although it could be a year either way.

Speaker To Substitute

Sir Leslie Munro, Ambassador from New Zealand has been announced as the Omaha U commencement speaker June 6.

Sir Munro will replace Clarence Hillberry, president of Detroit Wayne University, who was forced to cancel the commencement address.

Ellsworth, Miller, McMillan To Head Fall Gateway Staff

Betty Ellsworth will be editor-in chief of the Gateway next fall. Her appointment was announced by Clifford Ellis, chairman of the Board of Student Publications, this week.

Managing editor for the fall semester will be Marcia Miller.

Other staff positions were announced at the annual Publications "30" picnic last night.

They include Keith McMillan, who will take over the duties of news editor and Marvin Lincoln, who will head the copy desk. Lincoln will be aided on copy by Shirley Lang and Norma McAuliffe.

Proof editors are Elaine Henning and Eleanor Tracy.

Ma-le Day Parade Shows Victory Idea

Success in the year's events were shown in the "Victory" theme for Ma-le Day float competition at the school holiday last Friday.

Winning titles went to Zeta Tau Alpha, first place; Pi Kappa Alpha, second place and Alpha Xi Delta, third place.

The winning Zeta theme "Holy Mackerel! OU's Caught 'Em All" featured a large white mackerel peeping from two-tone blue waves. Pi Kappa Alpha theme, "Something to Crow About" showed chickens holding titles of OU's achievements. Alpha Xi Delta's theme was "We Came, We Saw, We Conquered" and depicted a large Ouampi dressed in a white toga.

Ten floats were entered in the annual parade.

Registration Cards Come in Colors

Notice anything different when registering for next semester?

Registration cards from each college division are different colors.

"This is to help students realize the college division they are in," explained Registrar Alice C. Smith.

"We have trouble with students not knowing what college they are in. Maybe the different color registration cards will help them remember," added the Registrar.

Correction

In the Gateway for May 6, Miss Ellen Lord, University librarian, and Dr. Edwin Clark, head of the drama department were incorrectly listed as new advisors of Waokiya and Omicron Delta Kappa, respectively.

They are newly-tapped members of each organization.

Eight Seniors Honored At Senior Day Activities

Mary L. Anderson Named Honorary Waokiya Member

Senior Day 1955 is history.

It is also a memorable occasion for eight of the approximately 225 seniors for these eight received awards for outstanding scholarship during their four years at the University of Omaha.

Four senior women received awards for maintaining high scholarship from Alpha Lambda Delta, national freshman women's scholastic honorary. They are Susan Bivin, Sharon Erdkamp, Joanne Rentschler and Joan Olsen.

Miss Rentschler also received the American Association of University Women Award.

For maintaining the highest average in the College of Business Administration John Haury received the Delta Sigma Pi, business fraternity, Award. This consists of a pin.

The WALL STREET JOURNAL Student Achievement Award based on written papers went to William D. McCloud. He gets a year's subscription to the financial newspaper.

An honorary membership in Waokiya, senior women's leadership honorary, went to Mary Louise Anderson. Miss Anderson, a victim of polio, did not have the necessary amount of activity points to become an active member, but Waokiya members felt her scholarship alone merited honorary membership.

The senior with the highest average is Roger Dunbler. His four year accumulative is 3.91. Running a close second is Susan Bivin, with a 3.82.

Buyer To Accept Books Next Week

A representative buyer of a used book company will be at the University Bookstore during exam week, Thursday through May 31, announced Ben Koenig, Bookstore manager.

This offers the student an outlet for books that are no longer used on campus, and therefore are not sold through the Bookstore.

It was also announced that books for the summer session will not be available until after graduation, June 6.

Year 1955 Means More Than Graduation to Seniors

By Betty Ellsworth

The year 1955 means more than graduation to seniors. It is a year of achievement.

The GATEWAY follows through senior activities with the outstanding news stories and scoops of the year.

The Sept. 15 stabbing of a local Omaha man by Dr. Claude E. Thompson, professor of psychology, opened news headlines the first semester.

Homecoming score, 59 to 7, boosted team and University spirit as the largest crowd in OU's history, 5,200 fans, watched the game.

Debate Question Important

"Resolved: That the United States should extend diplomatic recognition to the Communist government of China," the national debate question, was accepted by President Milo Bail for the OU campus. The controversial question, vetoed by several university presidents, was brought to a climax by the GATEWAY. Student interest forced the Board of Regents to reconsider their decision and admit the question for OU debaters.

Jewish Women Offer Student Scholar Loan

The Omaha Section of the National Council of Jewish Women will annually award to a deserving Jewish student the Marian Stoler Scholarship Loan.

The scholarship will be granted to students interested in work in the following fields of study: college and professional training, graduate work, study in the arts and nurses' training.

Thirteen straight football victories and cooperation of Omaha citizens sent the Indian team and rooters on their way to another victory at the Tangerine Bowl at Orlando, Fla. Little All-American titles went to team captain Rudy Rotella, tailback Bill Engelhardt and Coach Lloyd Cardwell.

Newman Club on List

A forgotten rule was brought to the attention of the Regents when the Newman Club, a Catholic organization, petitioned for campus recognition. The 1950 rule stating there should be no religious organizations on a municipal university campus, forced Regents to disband the Lutheran Students Association and to reject the Newman's petition. But student interest forced Regents to discard the rule and to admit religious organizations.

Creighton University's dominance over OU basketball met its end in an abrupt end in February when the Hilltop team scored 95 to 86 before 4,000 fans.

Alum Taps Donations

The largest amount ever donated to the Alumni Fund, $5,000, was donated in March by Glenn L. Martin, former president of the Glenn L. Martin Company of Baltimore.

The building expansion program took a real step with the cornerstone laying of the Student Library. Since 1938, when the Fieldhouse was completed, students have looked forward to action on proposed buildings. But it wasn't until 1955 that a "dream of the future" came into reality. Plans have been released for a Student Union and construction may begin in 1959.

To The Seniors . . .

It is because of the senior class that the University of Omaha has grown. It is because of the senior class that undergraduates respect the meaning of education.

The year 1955 has meant more to this senior class than perhaps any other year.

In that year Omaha University enrollment topped all previous records with 2,000 students. In that year students took an active stand on vital subjects. In that year the debate question was brought before students. In that year the question of religious organizations on campus presented a background for a twentieth century crusade. In that year OU sports put its name in history.

The progress of the University has rocketed in the past four years. The dreams of expansion have become a reality. The dreams of the future depend upon the senior class.

A college education will provide each senior with the background to qualify him to step out on his own. What he does in the future depends upon him.

What he does for the University as an alum depends upon him. What he achieves depends upon him.

To each senior the undergraduates wish success . . . achievement . . . honor.

Estrada Sisters To Travel To Israel on Scholarship

By Elaine Sternhill

Suzette and Suzanne Estrada, OU College of Arts and Sciences students, have each been awarded a $500 scholarship to Hebrew University in Jerusalem.

This will enable the sisters to study Israel in its Middle Eastern setting for the academic year of 1955-56.

The Estradas will leave New York City in July with a group of other American recipients of this scholarship. Upon arrival in Jerusalem they will begin an intensive four-month study of the Hebrew language.

This will enable them to better understand their courses and their associates, although a lack of proficiency in Hebrew will not be detrimental to the comprehension of the various studies.

Six Days of Classes

After completion of the course, they will begin the actual academic year. For the remaining eight months they will study 12 hours of Jewish studies, and 10 hours of other subjects chosen from the general curriculum of the schools of humanities, social sciences, mathematics and science. Classes will be held six days a week.

This will not be a year spent entirely on extensive study. Suzette and Suzanne will live in dorms with girls from Israel. Special tours are conducted for various classes throughout the year, which will enable them to witness that part of the world in both historic and modern aspects.

Extra-Curricular Entertainment

Entertainment will also be plentiful in Jerusalem. Theaters present Shakespeare's plays in Hebrew, as well as other well known dramatic successes.

The well-known Israeli Philharmonic Orchestra will be available for appreciative students. The traditional social interests of almost all campus life will most certainly be available in Jerusalem. Parties and plays will be active diversions for the Estrada girls, and will be a help to adjust to the different culture of the Middle East.

Sister to Return in 1956

Both girls have been prepared for a curriculum in Jewish studies. Besides being honor students at OU, they have been active in religious work. Both students are Sunday School teachers at Beth-el synagogue, and are simultaneously taking courses in advanced Hebrew and in the Hebrew prophets.

Suzanne and Suzette will return to the United States in July, 1956, to resume their college work. Their plans are at this moment tentative, but they think they will continue their studies at OU, and be graduated here.

Two Regents Last of Series

Edward Borchers and Milton Petersen, the last in the Regents' series, are both business executives.

Borchers is general manager of Swift and Company. Petersen is president of the Petersen Baking Company.

Borchers, from Craig, Mo., began working in 1913. In 1917 he started his career with Swift's as a clerk in Kansas City, Kans. He progressed through numerous jobs to plant manager in Omaha.

He now hopes to make Omaha his permanent home. Borchers spends his spare time reading and bowling.

Borchers lists board membership on the United Community Services, the Red Cross, the Associated Industries of Nebraska, YMCA, the First Baptist Church and the Rotary Club.

'Board' to Death

Looking at the list, he quipped, "I could be 'board' to death." He is also secretary-elect of the Rotary Club.

Borchers became a Regent last year after working closely with the University Business Administration classes. He has been a guest lecturer in some of Paul Crossman's classes.

Milton Petersen is a native Omahan. He received his B. A. from Harvard in 1916 and attended Harvard Law School for two years.

The first World War changed Petersen's plans to be a lawyer. He joined the army the day the war broke out.

After the war, he returned to Omaha and the family baking business. He began as the assistant bookkeeper, and worked up to the presidency in 1945.

Chicago Board Chairman For the last 15 years, Petersen has been chairman of the board of the American Institute of Baking in Chicago.

Petersen became a Regent two years ago. He commented that he enjoys the contacts at the University.

Students To Earn Credits by Travel

Have you ever felt the desire to forget your troubles, to escape the monotony of everyday living, to break away from the hubbub of daily life?

And have you ever wished you could abandon all your cares and sail to some alluring foreign land, sleep under tropical skies and lull in soft sunshine?

A group of Omaha University students is going to do just that this summer—and get college credit for the trip to boot.

Students participating will partake in the third annual language study tour, conducted by the Language Department. This year's itinerary includes a tour of the Caribbean. Cuba, Haiti, Jamaica, the Dominican Republic and Puerto Rico will be toured.

Dr. Christopher Espinosa, head of the Foreign Language Department, will supervise the tour. The excursion is designed primarily for language pupils. Dr. Espinosa pointed out, but any Omaha U student can attend.

Students can get three college credits for the Aug. 10-28 trip. Cost is $470.

Purpose of the tour is to try to combine the study of institutions fundamental in the lives of country natives, study monuments of the past and share contemporary life in those countries.

The tour is primarily beneficial to language students. Students will learn expressions of the countries, Dr. Espinosa pointed out, and get a true sampling of life in various countries.

OU's Second Grad Leaves Little Trace

Harry Jerome, the second person to graduate from OU and the only person graduated in 1912, is something of a mystery man.

An extensive search through volumes of old research papers, year books, and files netted only a few facts concerning this school dignitary.

No record could be found of where he was born, where he went to high school, and what college he attended before he transferred to OU.

However, following graduation, Jerome worked at the University as registrar for five years and later taught history and economics.

He did post-graduate work at the University of Wisconsin and later became assistant professor of economics. After gaining his M.A. at Wisconsin he wrote "Migration and Business Cycles," which showed results of the investigations made by the National Bureau of Economic Research.

He died in September, 1938.

The University of Omaha is sponsoring a Guidance Workshop Conference today and tomorrow in the Auditorium for high school and college counselors of the surrounding area.

It is being held in cooperation with District II, Nebraska School Counselor Association and the Guidance Service of the State Education Department.

"The School Counselor — His Function and Techniques" is the theme of the conference workshops and panels.

Dr. Frank H. Gorman, College of Education dean, will extend the greetings today and Dean of Student Personnel Jay B. MacGregor will address the group.

His topic is "the counselor and the classroom teacher as a working team."

Alums Aid University, Community

Alumni Channel Activities To Maintain OU's Welfare

Activities of the Alumni Association are guided by this purpose: "To develop, renew and maintain friendships among its members and to do all things necessary to further the general welfare of the Municipal University of Omaha."

The schedule for attaining these ends is broken down into three departments: the events for members, the monthly Newsletter, and the annual Alumni Fund Drive.

Social Activities

In the events section the association sponsors such events as the Alumni Homecoming Dance, the annual Achievement Day Banquet, the yearly World Affairs Institute, and the alumni-varsity football game. Other events include picnics and a spring dance.

The News Letter is published to keep alumni informed about the University and its changes, and to help alums keep in contact. Each month the Newsletter is sent to over 4,000 alumni. Three thousand of which live in either Omaha or Council Bluffs.

Voluntary Contributions

The Alumni Fund Drive is a voluntary contribution campaign to help OU and to help finance construction. The values of this project, according to Executive Secretary Tom Townsend, are "the good achieved by the contributions for the betterment of the school and the example the donors set for other alumni in encouragement for support."

Other uses for the donations are the Jenkins Scholarship Fund, the Library Gift Fund, the student center fund, and the Alumni Activities Fund.

Board of Directors Set Policies and Activities For Alum Association

Control of the Alumni Association rests in the hands of the 19 member Board of Directors.

The board meets once a month to set policies and plan activities. Five members of the board are appointed for three-year terms. Appointments are staggered so that only one-third of the members are new each year.

The executive secretary of the Alumni Association is selected by the Board of Directors with the approval of University officials. His duties are to carry out policies and activities.

Behind every man who succeeds there's a woman—and she usually catches him.

Alumni Association Boasts Service History for School

By Jim Trobough

Here's a look at the highlights of the Alumni Association's history.

The Alumni Association was founded June 6, 1913, at the graduation banquet held by the first class to attend OU four years. The first president was Harry Jerome who was the University's second graduate.

Originally Social

Although the group existed primarily as a social organization until the early 1940's, members convinced the City Council to make OU a municipal University during 1929-31. Between 1936 and 1938 the school was moved from Twenty-fourth and Pratt to the present site.

The Alumni Association, under the direction of Frank Heinisch, circulated petitions calling for the expansion of the city limits to include the plot of ground on which OU stands. Thousands of signatures were obtained, and despite bitter opposition by the Omaha World-Herald, the city limits were extended.

In 1937 the association was incorporated as a non-profit corporation under Nebraska law.

In the late 1940's the Alumni Association was given an office at the University. The staff for the part time organization was located on third floor in what is now station KWOU.

In Jan., 1950 the alumni office became a full time operation consisting of an Alumni Executive Secretary and a full-time assistant. Established Annual Fund.

In Jan., 1953 the Alumni Association abolished all dues and granted membership in the association to all former students. At the same time the association established the Annual Alumni Fund.

Some of the past association presidents are Dr. William L. Shearer, Omaha dentist; W. H. Thompson present dean of the College of Liberal Arts and Frank Heinisch, executive secretary of the Omaha Education Association.

Other former presidents are George Pardee, general counsel for the Metropolitan Utilities District and president of the Board of Regents and Virgil Sharpe of KOWH.

Alumni Secretary Tom Townsend Modest of Outstanding Work

"I don't see that there is anything to tell," said modest Tom Townsend when he was told there would be a profile written about him.

During his four years at OU Tom served as a Student Council member, Gateway editor, member of Omicron Delta Kappa, and member of the student central control committee which was organized to rally student support for an increased tax levy.

In the spring of 1951 he received a BA degree in English. Currently he has been attending summer classes at the University of Iowa working toward a MA degree in journalism.

August of 1951 saw Tom on his way to Washington to serve as assistant editor of the National Education Association Journal. In November of '51, the Optimist Club of Omaha flew Tom from Washington to Omaha to name him "Optimist of the Year" at their annual banquet.

In December of '52 Tom was appointed executive secretary of the Alumni Association by the Alumni Board of Directors. He has served in that position ever since.

"The real credit," said Townsend, "for alumni work on behalf of the University goes to the former students who work without pay for the betterment of the school. It is simply a personal satisfaction for me to have a part in it."

When asked what he considered the most important advances the association has made in the last few years he replied, "I would list these three events as the most significant advances in the past two and one-half years, the creation of the Jenkins scholarship, the establishment of the monthly News Letter, and the establishment of the annual fund program."

So ends the story of the man who had nothing to say.

Choir To Sing Sunday At Civic Auditorium

Firsts and lasts are in store at the last four performances of the University Choir this year.

They will appear Sunday at the new City Auditorium music hall, at Central high school Tuesday and at two baccalaureate services June 5.

The 4 p. m., Sunday appearance will be the first for a University choir. The occasion is the formal dedication of a movable electric organ for the auditorium. The Woman's Division of the Chamber of Commerce is giving the organ as their annual project of the year.

The projects are designed to benefit the city. Mrs. Peggy Hunter, secretary of the Chamber of Commerce, said the women felt that the organ would reach more people and give them more enjoyment than any other project they could do.

George Johnson, "old-time Omaha celebrity" and "wonderful concert artist," according to Mrs. Hunter, is guest organist for the dedication.

Singing Reputation Good

OU's choir was chosen because of their singing reputation, and their ability to draw crowds, said Mrs. Hunter.

She said, "the University choir is in the same excellent class as a performer like George Johnson." The choir will sing, "Daybreak," "Skip To My Lou," "Set Down Servant," "Great Day," "The Creation," and will join with Johnson for a "Battle Hymn" finale.

The choir will give a full concert at Central high school Tuesday. It will be their first program at the school in their last three years of high school appearances.

Two Baccalaureate Services

On June 5 the choir will sing at two baccalaureates within an hour.

They will sing at Dundee Presbyterian Church for the Benson high seniors at 4 p. m. and at the University Baccalaureate at 5 p. m. in the stadium.

They will sing "Now Thank We All Our God" and "Belshazzar," a composition of Dr. L. N. Garlough's, at both services.

The programs will be the last under the direction of Richard H. Brewer who has resigned to work on his Doctor's degree.

Businessmen Instruct at OU

Six professional journalists are employed as part-time instructors in OU's Journalism Department.

Robert McGranahan, assistant professor of journalism, heads this group of part-time instructors. Mr. McGranahan is head of OU's General Public Information office. He teaches the typography and radio-TV news writing classes.

Chum Houghton, former public relations head for Hinky-Dinky Stores, is teaching the editorial writing class.

Chief of the copy desk for the morning World-Herald, Hugo Slama, instructs a course in news editing.

Lloyd Berg, head of public relations for Omar Bakeries and director of the adult education newspaper, the CAE News, teaches the journalism for teachers course.

Hollis Linprecht, special assignment representative and feature writer for the World-Herald, taught public relations at OU's Offutt Field division.

The news writing course is being taught by James McCauley, present public relations head for Hinky-Dinky Stores.

Robert S. Robinson, publicity director for the Omaha Chamber of Commerce, will teach a non-credit course in free lance writing when class enrollment becomes sufficient.

Clifford Ellis, Journalism Department Head, and Mr. McGranahan are the only full-time instructors on the journalism staff. Another full-time instructor is expected this fall.

Gertrude Toffermier, career woman:

ROTC Corps Ends Successful Program

The Omaha U ROTC corps—1954-55 edition—will soon be history.

But the unit will go into ROTC annals as the peak year in the program's four-year existence. The wing upheld its top national ranking and became national headquarters for the Arnold Air Society.

In addition, the corps will climax the year's activities with an impressive Federal Inspection review.

Maj. John Burnett, one of five staff members being transferred from the unit this year, expressed his sentiments about leaving the corps. "It has been a privilege and a great source of satisfaction to have worked with the most active and successful AF-ROTC unit in the United States—practically since its origin on campus."

Brewer Resigns After Three Years; To Attend UCLA

President Milo Ball announced the resignation of Richard H. Brewer, head of vocal music, this week.

He said, "We're sorry to lose him, but we wish him all the luck in the world in his future undertaking. He will be a success wherever he goes."

"We always try to go up the ladder when replacing an instructor. In this case, it's going to be extremely difficult."

Brewer has been the University Choir director for the last three years. He received his Bachelors and Masters degrees from Westminster Choir College and Indiana University, respectively.

Brewer said his health and his desire for further education prompted the resignation. He has received a teacher assistantship and has been accepted in the graduate school at the University of California at Los Angeles (UCLA) next year.

His Doctors' degree will be in choral music. Brewer will continue at OU through the summer session.

Dr. James Peterson, head of the music department, said, "The resignation is regrettable."

Prominent University Alums Represent School, Community

"Famous alumni—sure we've got them; but it's hard to say that this one is famous and this one isn't," said Tom Townsend, Executive Secretary for the Alumni Association.

When asked for names of a few more prominent alumni connected with Nebraska Legislature and the city councils in the state he responded with the following: Roman Hruska, the Nebraska Republican Senator from the class of '25, and Glenn Cunningham, '35, former Omaha Mayor, presently serving as state director of the savings bond division of the U. S. Treasury Department.

Other prominent persons on the local scene include George Pardee, president of the Board of Regents and general counselor for the Metropolitan Utilities District, and Frank Hinisch who is Executive Secretary of the Omaha Education Association.

Alumni working outside the state include William T. Arthur, vice-president of operations for the Chicago, Delta and Southern Airlines; Edmond Barker, research specialist for the U. S. Air Force in Montgomery, Ala., and Lloyd Lee who is with the State Department in Washington.

We've got outstanding alumni outside the U. S., too. Wade Knapp is serving in the American Embassy in Mexico and Francis Donahue is the cultural attaché for the American Embassy in Cuba.

No such list could ever be complete, though, said Townsend, because of the slight shades of difference between a job and an important position. Many persons are famous in their own field such as business owners, professional people, authors, educators and Alumni Achievement Award winners, to mention but a few.

YOU GET A GOOD CLOSE-UP of college smokers' preference for Luckies in the Droodle at right, captioned: Lucky Strike column in a college cigarette-vending machine. On campuses all over America, college students automatically get Luckies. Why? Simply because Luckies taste better. They taste better, first of all, because Lucky Strike means fine tobacco. Then that tobacco is toasted to taste better. "It's Toasted"—the famous Lucky Strike process—tones up Luckies' good-tasting tobacco to make it taste even better...

cleaner, fresher, smoother. Next time it's light-up time, why don't you pull for Luckies?

Taylor Leaves Teaching Post After 26 Years

By Marvin Lincoln

An Omaha University educator for 26 years, and one of the teaching profession's staunchest advocates, is ending his long career of service this year.

Leslie Taylor, an instructor of Secondary Education, is one of a trio of OU teachers retiring this year. Mr. Taylor attended West Virginia, Minnesota and Chicago Universities. He received a Master's Degree in education at Chicago.

Professor Taylor came to Omaha U in 1929, and has seen the school undergo a steady growth. "The curriculum has greatly expanded," he reports, "and the school's expenditures have increased manifold."

A firm believer in the value of education, he considers it "the greatest and most remarkable force in the world today." Modern education, he maintains, has shown remarkable growth and will have a great influence in future years.

The purposes and objects of education are vital to our society and to the individual, he contends. "Education helps a person interpret his world and his relationship to society."

"Teachers are basically human engineers. They mold character and fashion the individual to fit into society."

Mr. Taylor's philosophical views of teaching offer a deviation from the normal viewpoint of today. For he believes the teacher's prime purpose is to serve. "The most satisfactory life is the type that renders service," he contends.

And while men like Leslie Taylor continue to enrich the teaching profession, education shall remain the most profound influence in our lives.

Biology Prof Garlough Jumps from Microbes To Music Composition

From microbes to music! This is the jump made by Dr. Leslie N. Garlough, biology professor.

He, however, believes there is a close parallelism between music theory and scientific and mathematical theory; and he is in a position to know, as his compositions have been played at OU for a number of years.

His first piece composed for the school was done at the request of Dr. Richard Duncan; later Dr. Brewer and Robert Gaskill, band director, requested others—some of which are still in use.

His efforts on his five-string banjo have brought forth recordings of old American music for the school.

As his crowning achievement, Garlough has worked for two years on a composition to be sung at baccalaureate. Based on the theme of Belchazar's banquet with the "handwriting on the wall," the words of the song warn humanity to "watch out!" Using deliberate dissonances, the effect of the piece is very modern and expressive.

Sylvester Senior's Memoirs

By Lord Byron Hennig and Edgar Allen Halverson

'Twas the day before graduation In the dimly lit school, Sylvester Senior sat thinking Himself was a fool!

The students flew past him In a world of their own, With troubles and problems Our Sylvester had known.

Behind stacks of books Suffering Freshmen were stumbling,

While in their sweet heads Hopes of straight A's were tumbling.

And there to the right With a girl on each arm, Sigmond Sophomore came swag-gering

Well aware of his charm.

But straight down the middle Jasper Junior is marching, For a good glass of booze His throat is just parching.

Yet cloaked in deep gloom Sits Sylvester enraged, He's gone the way of all Seniors—Our Sylvester's engaged!!

Seniors Lament Life of Sin; Want Four Years Over Again

Most freshmen on entering college have only one thought in mind. And that thought is to graduate as soon as possible with as little effort as possible.

Now that graduation is at hand for CU's 1955 seniors, the GATEWAY has conducted a senior poll to discover if any members of the graduating class have realized the error of their way through college.

Let us take a look at some of the answers we received to the question "What would you do differently if you had your four years of college to live over again?"

JO OLSEN—I would never be editor of the paper again, and I would not take 19 and 21 hours a semester.

JERRY KELLY—More parties? JANE ANDERSON—I'd have studied a little more.

BOB KRAGH—Guess I would have taken more hours a semester.

JIM ERIXON—I wouldn't have waited till my last two years to take 18 and 20 hours a semester.

PAT NORMAN—I'd have gone out for football.

JOAN WILLEY—I would have studied once in a while.

SAM MARASCO—I'd start drinking sooner.

DAN WYGOLD—I'd have matched my drinks with Sam.

SAM ANZALONE—I'd have gone along with Sam and Don.

JERRY TANNAHILL—I'd have hit the books a little harder.

PAUL CHERLING—I'd never major in Journalism again.

VIRGINIA CLINE—I would go away to school for two years. I think it would be good experience.

JACKIE PEDERSEN—I wouldn't have taken European history in my freshman year.

GALEN LILLETHORUP—I'd never, never leave school to enlist.

ELIZABETH VUKELIC—I'd graduate in three years.

DONNA RASGORSHEK—My gosh, I'd die.

'Murals Stagnate; 'Lack of Interest'

By Robert Henkel

Omaha U's Intramural program ended this week with a dull thud. Most of the spring program was cancelled. Lack of interest failed to produce a winner in the table tennis tournament.

Intramural outdoor track, which was scheduled for the first week in May, fell by the wayside. Individuals and organizations gave conflict in schedules and lack of time left in the school year as alibis for nonparticipation.

No 'Mural Tennis or Golf

The GATEWAY has not heard of any competition this year either in tennis or golf. It seems that interest in the Omaha U Intramural program is at a new low. What's the problem. We wish we knew. The University has earned a fine reputation in Intercollegiate sports and as a member of the National Association of Intercollegiate Athletics.

A strong Intramural program should accompany a strong varsity program.

'Murals Should Not Be Obscured

We think that the athletic department should spend a little time to try and find out what's wrong. Intramurals should not be completely obscured by varsity sports. They are just as much a job of the Athletic Department as Intercollegiate sports.

The GATEWAY hopes that next year a strong point of OU athletics will be the Intramural program.

In Intramural softball, Pawnees clinched the championship by dropping Theta Chi 8-6 last week. The AF-ROTC forfeited all their games in softball because of a "lack of players."

OUWI Beats Teachers 15-9

Members of Omaha University Women's Intramurals climaxed a busy year of activities with a softball game against OU physical education instructors.

The students proved they learned their lessons well, for they beat their teachers, 15-9.

Playing for the teacher's team were Mrs. Margery McLaren, Miss Marilyn Nass, Miss Mary Lou Niebling and Miss Katherine Schaake. Others were Marilyn Rogers, physical education instructor at Westside High School and Helen Thart, Tech High teacher.

Those playing for the student's team were Ruth Glandt, Gerri Houlihan, Clair Kiser, Mary Ann Leo, Jane Munro, Dale Peters and Kay Talty.

The OUWI executive council will have a picnic at Elmwood Park June 2 to formulate plans for next year's activities.

Big 7 Schools Drop Omaha U Netmen Twice

OU netmen sorely missed the service of their two aces, Bill Berg and John Dervin, when they lost two consecutive matches to the University of Nebraska and Kansas State College. Both matches were at Dewey Park.

The Indians lost a 3-2 decision to Nebraska May 11 after defeating them 7-0 earlier in the season. Don Fisher, taking over the top spot, lost to John Schroeder 6-2, 6-2. Bill Feddersen evened the count, edging Steve Sutton 7-5, 7-5. Dudley Quick made his debut, losing in straight sets to John Stitt, 6-1, 6-0.

Time ran out before Howard Larimore and Helmuth Dahlke completed their matches. Larimore was ahead in the last set after splitting the first two. Dahlke lost his opening set, 5-7, and was ahead in the second, 4-2.

In doubles, Fisher and Feddersen pulled out a victory over Moran and Schroeder 10-8. Larimore and Dahlke lost 6-4, 6-3.

Kansas State completely dominated the Indians last Friday, swamping them 5-1. OU won their only match when Fisher and Feddersen won a doubles victory, 6-2, 6-3, from Dick Circle and John Dream.

Trackmen Compile Best Record Ever

Coach Ernie Gorr and his trackmen have closed team competition for the year. Owning one of the greatest strings of victories and performances in the history of the school, the Indians have resumed training for the NAIA regional meet at Kearney May 28, and the Midwest AAU track meet next month.

Top performers will be lost through graduation. They are Mel (Skip) Decker, the fine distance man, Bernie Lainson, a 1:56 half-miler who holds school records in the 440 and the mile; Roger Dunbier, record holder in the high jump, and Jerry Tannahill, broad-jump record holder who participated only in indoor competition this year.

Returning to face one of the toughest hurdles this season will be Park Ames, Bob Anderson, Bill and Bob Barnes, Bob Gerdeman and Lloyd Hunter.

Others are Bob Jackson, Bill Jensen, Dick May, Larry Means, Dave Piller, Dave Seals, Bob Trumbauer and Pete Vaughn.

Competition at the next two meets will be generally individual instead of on a team basis. Bidding for places in the Texas NAIA finals will be the Barnes twins, Gerdeman, Hunter, Lainson, Means and Piller.

Records fell this year in the mile and the sprint medley relays, the 440, and 880 and the 440 yard intermediate hurdles.

OU Whips Simpson, Iowa Central Omaha trackmen won their last meet of the season Tuesday with easy victories over Simpson College and Iowa Central College. The final score was Omaha 85, Simpson 45 and Central 32.

The Indians racked up records in the mile, the 440, the 120 yard high hurdles, the two mile and the high jump. Outstanding performer for Coach Ernie Gorr was sophomore Hunter, who beat Bill Barnes in the lows, placed second in the highs and third in the broad-jump.

Soft Track Cuts Time

The soft track cut times considerably. The mile relay quartette ran ten seconds slower than their best performance this year to set the meet mark of 3:30.7.

Bill Barnes had hard luck, losing his first hurdle event to an OU athlete since Dunbier beat him on the Simpson track two years ago. In the low hurdles, his specialty, a white dog ran into the track and broke his stride.

What young people are doing at General Electric

Young scientist works on new ways to handle "hot" radioactive fuel

Whenever uranium is "burned" in an atomic reactor, certain valuable elements such as plutonium are left behind in the "ash."

These products are highly radioactive, but they must be recovered because of their great value to the atomic energy program.

Alter's Work Is Vital, Important

Alter is doing his job well. He has already received the Coffin Award, General Electric's highest honor, for developing an apparatus that makes possible faster, safer, and more efficient recovery of the valuable elements in the "ash."

The work done by Alter and his group helps lower costs, increase efficiency and expand our knowledge of the chemical processing of spent radioactive fuels.

25,000 College Graduates at General Electric

When Alter came to General Electric in 1948, he already knew the work he wanted to do. Like each of the 25,000 college-graduate employees, he was given his chance to grow and realize his full potential. For General Electric has long believed this: When fresh young minds are given freedom to make progress, everybody benefits—the individual, the company, and the country.

H. WARD ALTER joined G.E. in 1948 at Knolls Atomic Power Laboratory after receiving a B.A. in 1943 and Ph.D. in Chemistry in 1948 at U. of California. He served with the Manhattan Project at Oak Ridge, 1944-46.

OU Completes Greatest Sport Year!

By Robert Henkel

Four of the Big Five in the Omaha U athletic department discuss the finest year in Indian athletic history. Left to right, Ernie Gorr, Athletic Director Virgil Yelkin, Lloyd Cardwell and Harvey Vogler, Athletic Business Manager. Missing is Tom Brock who is representing the University on the annual Omaha Goodwill Trip throughout the state.

The 1954-55 school year will go down as a banner year for the Municipal University of Omaha. The brightest star in the OU heavens though was the top showing made by the school in intercollegiate athletics.

Athletic teams representing Omaha U compiled the best set of statistics in the school's 47-year history.

Head coach Lloyd Cardwell, assisted by Ernie Gorr and Tom Brock produced the "winningest" OU football team in history. High spot was the win over unbeaten Eastern Kentucky State in the Tangerine Bowl.

Athletic Director Virgil Yelkin had a basketball team that compiled the best record in postwar competition, and probably the best record in Indian history.

Ernie Gorr's track team also had their best year in OU track history.

The Baseball team had a little rough sledding at first but should come out as one of the top years.

In other spring sports the tennis team had probably the top team ever fielded by Omaha U until the top two players were suspended. Golf had another top year, winning 11 and losing only four, tying one.

The coaching staff, the teams and the whole athletic department deserve a pat on the back and congratulations on a job well done.

Creighton Next For Hot Indians

By Don Diglio

Creighton University will try again tomorrow night to break the hold that Omaha University baseballers have over them, the two teams meet for the last time this season.

As expected, the Indians dropped arch-rival Creighton 12 to 9 on the Omaha diamond May 6. But also, as expected, the game was close and thrilling right down to the final out.

Omaha jumped out to an early lead, and for the rest of the afternoon ward off the Bluejay's threats. Bob Gibens started the last game for Creighton, but they are expected to throw their ace lefty at the Indians, Fritz Stanek. Omaha will probably start Chris Salberg.

Monday, the Omaha team will end the season against Buena Vista College. Last season the two teams played to a 7-7 tie, and Omaha won the second game 5 to 0. They were scheduled earlier this season, but the game was stopped by rain.

Indians Cool Sodaks Twice

Omaha University, playing baseball like the pre-season dopsters predicted, handed South Dakota State College a double loss last weekend, bringing their season record up to 8-4.

Behind the clutch pitching of Stan Scheatzle and the hitting of outfielder Dave Langevin, the Indians dropped the Jackrabbits in the opener 2 to 1.

Langevin doubled in Don Hansen in the third inning, and he scored the winning run in the seventh. Big Stan was in command all the way.

On the following afternoon, the Omaha team made things miserable for the Sodaks. They hammered away for an easy 15 to 7 victory. Bob Ladd went the distance for the Indians. John Cimino blasted a homer, and Wayne Malnack, who has been having a hitting slump, collected three hits.

OU Golfers Win Seventh Straight

Monday's 15-3 victory over Creighton at the Field Club gave Omaha University's golfers their seventh straight win during May.

Jerry Norene lead the attack against Creighton, shooting a 74 and defeating Ed Rosse, 3-0. He was backed up with fine work from Dean Wilson, 77 and Fred Shinrock, 79.

On May 11 OU surprised the University of Nebraska by tying the Huskers, 7½-7½. Nebraska had downed the Indians, 10½-4½, earlier.

OU completely outclassed Midland, 18-0, behind the shooting of Dean Wilson and Fred Shinrock. The match was played at Happy Hollow on May 9.

May 7 saw the Indians travel to Grinnell, Ia., where they won a 12½-2½ OU victory.
